natura

the natural choice

After more than five years research and development, Schottlander have created natura - a range which is vital and natural in appearance yet priced as a mid range tooth.

natura anterior teeth use skillful shading, internal mamelon effects and a subtle response to changing light conditions to achieve their remarkably lifelike appearance.

natura posterior teeth - with natural translucent cusps - are manufactured to the same high aesthetic standard and are both more wear resistant than standard PMMA teeth and exceptionally strong and durable in the mouth.

Their advantages include:

- Internal mamelon effects in both upper and lower centrals for a more natural appearance.
- Naturally occurring blue/white opalescence and fluorescence especially visible in upper laterals.
- Anterior aesthetics carried through to posterior teeth.
- CE marked and manufactured under ISO 9001 quality standard and in accordance with EN ISO 3336 Standard for Artificial Teeth.
- Excellent bond to acrylic denture base material.
- High solvent and heat resistance.

natura the quality mid-range tooth.

In 2004 Schottlander were honoured to receive the Queen's Award for the Enigma and Natura teeth and denture systems.

Schottlander's Innovation Recognised

The official citation from the Queen's Awards Office read:

"The award to Davis Schottlander & Davis Ltd recognises this company's success in continuously improving a range of teeth and dentures.

The Company has created Enigma and Natura, two ranges of teeth and dentures that not only look more natural but also function better. This has been achieved by using advanced acrylic materials, a wider range of colours and better mechanical design, to give an improved "bite". Options available now take account of the different characteristics of ethnic groups. Continuous innovation in design and professional marketing have enabled this award winner to achieve a substantial share of the market and considerable commercial success whilst providing customers with better looking and performing dentures".
